Spreading seeds of service

Serving my community—one kind action at a time

In our Builders Club, we have been discussing how we can spread the seeds of service in our school and community through random acts of kindness. Here’s a description of an act of kindness that I have performed and how helping someone else made me feel:

______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________
______________________________________________________________________________